

09/662958

ABSTRACT

A computer implemented method for a principal to electronically establish and use an agent. The method comprising the steps of: the principal identifying a service requirement, the principal submitting an electronic request for service, the principal and the agent negotiating terms, establishing an electronic power of attorney between the principal and the agent, the agent performing the requested service; and the principal paying the agent.